

Andy Stewart – Senior Consultant

Expertise

Providing project, construction or development management services, putting construction delivery and professional teams together, identifying and managing delivery risk, sourcing development opportunities, providing bid management support, business and brand development.

About

Andy is a Fellow of The Chartered Institute of Building, a positive and proactive results driven professional with a highly successful background in the delivery of profitable Development projects. An excellent track record in sourcing and appraising Land & Development

With over 35 years management experience Andy's experience covers all sectors of the industry. His expertise enables him to provide invaluable support to clients. Having the added value of a wealth of construction delivery experience, Andy is able to significantly de-risk potential development opportunities early, enhancing the ability to increase returns on investment .

Background

Andy has held Middle, Senior Management and Director level appointments in some of the UK's most successful construction and project management organisations. Recently providing Construction consultancy and project delivery support to private developers, including providing complete management professional teams for the design and delivery of projects.

