

Ellen Spooner, Graduate Consultant

Expertise

Report writing, quantitative and qualitative data analysis.

About

Ellen's interest in affordable housing was sparked during her time researching the environmental and economic sustainability of the Tiny House Movement in the UK as part of her undergraduate degree. Her recent experience working as the Hub Coordinator at Community Led Housing London has furthered this understanding and has exposed her to a wide range of community led housing projects across London.

Prior to this, Ellen developed her communication skills working as an administrative officer at the NHS. She also has a strong interest in environmental issues and has previously gained experience supporting the implementation of sustainable practices into a workforce.

Background

Hub Coordinator – Community Led Housing London

BSc Geography – University of Bristol – 2:1

