

Senior Leadership and Board Recruitment

Leveraging the power of collective difference

The very best organisations understand the less tangible elements of diversity, such as diversity of education, culture, and upbringing. They nurture and promote different ways of thinking, and different ways of approaching and solving the same problems. This is diversity and inclusion as a strategy for success – termed 'the power of collective difference'. Diversity of thought is most valuable to organisations as it drives challenge, innovation, drawing on a wider base of experience and knowledge to encourage new ways of thinking, and to gain a competitive advantage.

Why Altair and Green Park?

We partner with executive search and diversity experts Green Park to combine Altair's networks and understanding of housing, property and regeneration, with Green Park's extensive experience supporting organisations to attract diverse talent, from within and outside of the sector. We provide a full range of recruitment solutions to ensure you find the people you need to achieve your strategic objectives.

Together Green Park and Altair are committed to working with clients to challenge expectations and change behaviours; to drive a culture shift to more inclusive recruitment and onboarding across the housing sector.

- We will partner with you to understand your requirements.
- You'll recruit new ways of thinking to add value to your team.

Green Park and Altair have worked with:

Contact us to find out more:

Sioned Hughes (she/her)
Principal Consultant at Altair
sioned.hughes@altairtd.co.uk

Jaimi Shanahan (she/her)
Director at Green Park
jaimi.shanahan@green-park.co.uk